

A customer will have at least one ticket. If they did not have a ticket, they would not be in the database. They could have more than one ticket if they buy one for a later movie.

Each theater that is hosting the movie has a concession stand